MCU Higher Education Enhancement

銘傳大學高教深耕計畫

In order to promote the atmosphere of independent learning, elevate students' willingness to actively pursue knowledge and bolster high-quality campus learning environments, the Higher Education Sprout Project encourages students to participate in "NSTC Research Projects for College Students" to express their research energy and achieve infinite possibilities. Regardless of future studies or employment, NSTC Research Projects for College Students is your springboard for success, allowing you to win from the starting block! This year, 151 projects from MCU were awarded grants, ranking top four among all universities in Taiwan. Under the university's active promotion, the outstanding performance of MCU students can shine and receive the greatest returns. Everyone is welcome to participate in the grand event.

WHAT IS NSTC Research Projects for College Students?

In order to promote early cultivation of outstanding research talents in basic science, applied science, and humanities and social sciences, the National Science and Technology Council of Executive Yuan encourages students from public and private colleges and universities to participate in special research projects, receive research training as soon as possible, experience research activities, learn research methods, and strengthen their practical abilities to implement experiments and projects.
